

Chat App Analysis

FTK enables investigators to review chat messages from 35+ apps like iMessage, Twitter and WhatsApp, reconstructed in their near-native view for easy interpretation of conversations. FTK 8.1 now includes chat date filters to zero in on key timespans, support for inline chat replies, deleted and edited messages, chat language translation, warrant returns and Google Takeouts, parsing support for iOS 17, KMZ, Biome artifacts, and more!

LPP Privilege Workflows

Easily bulk label chats as 'privileged' for use when exporting chats with redactions intact, to protect privileged or sensitive data that shouldn't be exposed when sharing evidence with other reviewers or agencies.

Uncover Connections & Relationships

By parsing and reviewing evidence from mobile devices and computers, within a single solution, investigators can find common connections across data sources, enhancing the efficiency of their analysis.

Demystify complex communication patterns with Entity Management. Identify known aliases and uncover hidden communication patterns between the users or 'entities' in the case, before digging into artifacts.

FTK 8.1 features automatic merging of known aliases and entities. Visual identification of the most communicative entities and most used chat applications helps investigators know where to start. Message threads are also grouped by person instead of by chat app name, for faster, consolidated viewing during the analysis phase.

Lab-to-Court Reporting

By reviewing mobile and computer data in a single FTK case file, you can more easily create one report that includes all your evidence versus sending multiple reports from multiple tools. FTK's new fully customizable report builder lets investigators organize and communicate mobile evidence into a clear narrative:

- Embed chats, files, emails, multimedia & timelines directly into reports.
- Select keywords to be automatically highlighted throughout report data.
- Add your own branding, logo, headers and footers, and column layout.
- Easily export reports to Word or PDF, or create templates for a convenient head-start every time.

Schedule a Demo Today

ABOUT EXTERRO

Exterro empowers organizations and law enforcement agencies to achieve better legal, regulatory and investigation outcomes, save money, and minimize the impact of threats by addressing data risk. Its data risk management software is the only comprehensive platform that combines data discovery, automation, workflow optimization, and responsible AI to provide insight into and control over the complex interconnections of privacy, legal operations, digital investigations, cybersecurity response, compliance, and information governance. Thousands of teams around the world in corporations, law firms, managed services providers, and government and law enforcement agencies trust Exterro to manage their risks and drive successful outcomes at a lower cost. For more information, visit exterro.com.